Monthly Online Book Studies for Educators

Join your fellow educators as we read and discuss timely, impactful books related to education. This interactive online training will introduce an inspiring new book each month. Book study participants will read one fourth of the book each week and will post their reflections online at their convenience, as well as respond to other participants’ posts. Our goal is to help educators make a connection to the book, their career, and fellow educators. The course ends with a short final reflection paper to solidify the educational experience. Join us in a book journey from the comfort of your home.
